

An Everyday Ordinary Life

Family and Friends for an Everyday Ordinary Life

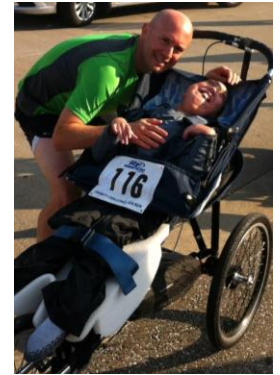

We are family and friends of people with developmental disabilities who want to live an everyday, ordinary life in their own homes, neighbourhoods and communities. We are committed to helping them achieve this.

We have come together around the shortage of funding to pay for support workers.

There are many stories about meaningful community involvement and the inclusion of our family members and friends. These stories are made possible by our dedication, support worker funding (often called direct funding) as well as good facilitation and planning.

We are among the growing numbers of family caregivers across this province whose loved ones need someone to support them out in the community. We rely on direct funding to hire and manage support workers for our family members to assist them as contributing citizens, to learn and grow in the community. We know how to make the most of their direct funding. With the support of an independent facilitator some of us have increased our capacity to find welcoming people and places in the community.

Join us to secure an everyday, ordinary life for our loved ones.

We had this solved.....

We know what it looks like.

Government agreed

We have one request...

To secure an everyday ordinary life for people who live with a developmental disability.

That way, they can live in their own home. They can participate in and contribute to their own community.

It would cost each of us in Ontario, six cents a day.

We can get there again...

1 in 100 persons in Ontario have a developmental disability.

Good societies include everyone.

Good communities respect choices.

We are loyal to our family members. We have made a lifetime commitment.

We believe in good government.

We belong to caring communities.

We are your neighbours.

Learn more by following the blog:

<http://everydayordinarylife.wordpress.com>

Like us on Facebook:

<http://www.facebook.com/pages/Everyday-Ordinary-Life/547885258572935>

